Yesterday afternoon, Kate stopped me at the school gate and asked me to her party. I was happy because she often helps with my English. Her family come from England. They all speak English. I hope to talk with more Englishmen. My mother knew Kate liked jiaozi and made some for her. Kate's friends were in the room when I got there. The girl thanked me for my present, the jiaozi. The party started at five and we all said "Happy birthday!" to her. She told us to talk in English. We had a good time and learned a lot, too.

Who's the most popular cartoon character in China now? It might be Peppa, a little pink pig from the British cartoon Peppa Pig. It has been on TV in 40 languages in more than 180 countries. The cartoon is for young children, but even adults are its fans as well. This cartoon has been so popular that the theme park named Peppa World opened in 2011 in the UK. Two more parks have opened in Italy and Germany. There, tourists can visit Peppa's house and school. They can also ride a train, a hot-air balloon, or a boat, just as Peppa's family do in the cartoon. Park workers dress up as the cartoon characters. They say hello to visitors and shake hands with them. Entertainment One, the company behind the parks, built Peppa Pig theme parks in Beijing and Shanghai in 2019, which was the Year of the Pig in China.

Question 7: Where does the little pig Peppa come from?

We got more than 1,500 letters, faxes and e-mails from our readers about their New Year's resolutions. Most of our readers, more than 1,000 readers, plan to study or work harder this year. Quite a few readers want to live a healthier life.

They are going to sleep earlier, take more exercise and eat more vegetables. Some students are going to learn new foreign languages. Some parents are going to study the subjects their children learn at school because they want to know more about their children and communicate better with them. An old lady is going to take up dancing after she retires this year. She dreams of dancing on the stage but she was too busy to learn how to dance before. It's inspiring to know that we are trying to make ourselves better people, isn't it?

Question 7: How many replies did they get?

Question 8: What are the readers going to do to live a healthier life?

Question 9: Why are some parents going to study the subjects their children learn at school?

Question 10: What is the old lady going to take up?

听以下短文一遍，你有 50 秒钟的时间准备，然后模仿朗读。当听到“开始录音”的信号后，请在 70 秒钟内朗读短文，当听到“停止录音”的信号时，请停止朗读。

What do you think our life will be like in the future?

Maybe in the future people will fly into space and spend their holidays on the moon. And some people will live under the sea. There will be robots in every house. People won't need to do housework. Robots will help them to do everything at home. So they will have more time to do other things. There won't be shops because people will be able to do shopping without leaving their houses.

I'm sure that there will be more e-schools, so children will study at home through the Internet. They won't go to school every day.
