M: Sorry, I can't. I've got a lot of work to finish today.

W: You're supposed to write about the book, but if you'd like to relate it to your own life, you can.

The main part of your essay should be about the book.

M: I see. <sup>⑦</sup> I think I will have to rewrite what I've already written, since most of my essay doesn't have anything to do with the book.

W: That's probably a good idea.

W: A few years? <sup>⑮</sup> I think that kind of technology is a long way off, maybe a few decades.

M: Are you sure about that? It seems like they're ready to hit the roads now. What do you think will change when self-driving cars take over the streets?

W: There was a really cool CNN video about it. <sup>⑯</sup> They said it might become illegal for humans to drive cars in the future.

M: That sounds a little strange. It might become more difficult to get a license.

W: Maybe some people would lose their jobs. I read somewhere that 40% or so of the jobs we have today will be replaced by AI.

M: <sup>⑲</sup> So why vote for the umbrella? Well, the most important reason is that it's one of the oldest inventions in the world. People found it very useful thousands of years ago, and we still find it useful today. Secondly, the umbrella is a great invention because it's got several different uses. We can use it in the rain, we can use it in the sun and we can use it as a walking stick. <sup>⑳</sup> Thirdly, vote for the umbrella because umbrellas bring colours to our gray, rainy streets. My final reason is that umbrellas are very cheap to make and cheap to buy.
